Both deal with themes that are in many aspects interesting and fascinating to us modern human-beings. They are stories about royalty, heroism, honor, love, glory, hate and revenge. Ingredients that are even today essentially for every movie which is supposed to bring in money. But during the bygone ages "Beowulf" and "Hamlet" take place in, making money was not the only goal. The authors wanted to deliver certain messages to the audience. In this work I will concentrate on the concepts of honor and revenge in both texts. What is considered as honorable Which behaviour is typical for a coward How important is revenge and how can it be achieved And, most important, how does these concepts differ if you take a closer look on "Beowulf" and "Hamlet" What are the differences between the ages To answer this questions it will be important to compare the main characters, as there are Beowulf and Hamlet. Both of them are confronted with situations in which decisions have to be made. Decisions on how to act, on how to react to different events and threats in their lives. By watching the characters, it should be possible to point out differences and similarities between them. I suspect that there are quite a lot of differences, because "Hamlet" several hundred years younger than "Beowulf". Therefore some concepts (e.g. that of revenge) may have changed...
